SEPT. FRIDAY 21st. 1934

NUMBER 28

Sugar Factory Campaign Started on Friday

The beet harvest commenced Monday in the Taber-Barnwell and the Lethbridge Northern districts, and with it came a spell of rainy weather to make the beets easy to dig, and the roads nice to haul them over. At any rate, Tuesday afternoon the skies clouded over after a very pleasant forenoon, and about 4:40 rain commenced falling, and fell steadily for quite a little while.

Seven stations opened Monday morning for the receiving of beets, four in the Taber-Barnwell district, and three in the Lethbridge Northern. Five more opened on Tuesday, and on the following Thursday, the factory offices and four other dumps in the Raymond district started receiving beets. Monday of next week, all other stations will receive beets, and the harvest will be in full swing throughout the beet producing areas.

Testing has been going on for some time past, and the sugar content now is just about on a par with this time last year, and there is every prospect that the average content will be as high or higher than last year, which set a new record for Southern Alberta.

Plans were first laid to start the factory Thursday morning, but the storm Tuesday and Wednesday, caused this to be changed until Friday morning, when another storm set in. However, start was made in the hopes that the storm would give way to good weather Saturday to allow digging to proceed. 3,500 tons of beets were in the sheds to start on. A few beets were plowed Thursday afternoon and delivered Friday morning. They did not make much difference though to the visible supply on hand for slicing.

News Notes

Mr. and Mrs. Cliff Gough expect to move into their new home the latter end of next week. The plasterers are finishing up their work now.

After a beautiful warm day Tuesday, a norther sprang up about 4 p.m. and had the air filled with dust and dirt for awhile. The sky was mostly clear however.

Don Redebach, Alif Erickson and D. M. Powelson were amongst the Raymondites who attended the Auction Sale at Dec. Cattle's farm west of New Dayton Monday afternoon.

Virgil Quinton and Mark Thomas spent Thursday night in Raymond on their way to the Montana oilfields for crude oil to burn in a Caterpillar on road work which is under way from the gravel north of the Indian Agency near Cardston, right into the villages of Glenwood and Hill Spring. This is a standard grade and will likely be gravelled later on.

A good example of service was demonstrated here Thursday in King Motors when Lorraine Jensen, Taxicab Agent of Cardston, arrived here with a load of gas, to discover that the clutch in his Ford truck was gone. King Motors had none, and Lethbridge had none, but a phone call to Calgary enabled one to be put on the train at 5 p.m., arriving in Lethbridge at midnight. Jensen met the train, and between 2 and 3 a.m. 'Dad' Pearson put in the clutch so that by daylight Friday, Lorraine was back in Cardston to deliver his gas according to plans and no one was disappointed. Real service we call it.

Mrs. Fisher Honored

Honoring the 67th birthday of their mother and grandmother, 35 of the children and grandchildren of Mr. and Mrs. Jas. E. Fisher gathered at the family home last Saturday to do honor to their mother.

A chicken dinner was the main attraction of the afternoon, with all the good trimmings, and the hungry group gathered around a table centered with lovely roses and chrysanthemums and did full justice to the bounteous repast spread before them. This was followed by games and conversation, and then a theatre party completed the activities of the day for the family and visitors.

A very pleasant time is reported and the mother, and also the ones attending, will long remember the 67th birthday party.

SUCCESSFUL SCHOOL CLEAN-UP

A very successful School clean up was held last Friday at the Public School grounds, when teachers and pupils gathered with the rakes and hoes and shovels and combed the playgrounds from end to end removing a tremendous amount of rubbish, large sharp cinders, and other undesirable matter from the grounds. The teams which had been donated were then put to work hauling on clean, fine cinders, and sand for the children to pay in.

H. Myron Holmes, Chairman of the Grounds Committee was in charge of the day and put it over in a very satisfactory manner. These projects should receive the whole-hearted support of the ratepayers, as they save money in taxes, and also save money for the parents in clothing and shoes for the children. When mother eye is called, everyone that possibly can should support the idea.

Good progress is being made on the brick work of the W. A. Anders home, and the red and black tapestry brick make a splendid contrast in the work.

Two young fellows who attempted to rob the Post Office at Brant, but failed when the postmaster appeared, made their second mistake when they hailed a passing car and asked for gas, when the gas in their stolen car gave out. They picked up the car of the R.C.M.P. Constable, who took them in to custody, and a few hours later, the judge gave them each one year in jail to think it over. Justice worked swift in this case.

DEAN ROLFSON AT B.Y.U.

With the appearance of Dean Rolfson of Raymond, on the campus of Brigham Young University this week, the annual entrance of Southern Alberta students into the Latter Day Saint institution began.

Dean is a school teacher who has taught in various places south of Lethbridge and is a well-known athlete. He played guard on the Raymond High School basketball team, on the Normal team during his study at Calgary, and on the Union Jacks, Alberta champions.

Last year 24 Canadians attended the B.Y.U. and a similarly large group is expected this year, according to college registration officials in close touch with correspondence with students. Registration begins September 21 for freshmen, and continues September 22 and 24, with instructions September 25.

Raymond Now In New Inspectorate

Recreating the Cardston School Inspectorate, which was abandoned or done away with in 1923, A. R. Gobson, formerly of Red Deer has been stationed in Cardston to work out of there. In this new territory is part of the territory covered by Inspector Bremner of Macleod, and Inspector Williams of Lethbridge who was the last Inspector in the Cardston Inspectorate.

According to the boundaries of the new district, the schools of Raymond, at least the Public School will be in the Cardston Inspectorate, under the new arrangement, instead of under the Lethbridge district.

Wedding Bells

WEBSTER — REDD

Walter Webster and Miss Gertrude Redd, well known young people of Raymond, were united in marriage Friday afternoon of last week, September 14th, by Pres. O. W. Ursenbach, at the Ursenbach home in Lethbridge.

The young couple will make their home in Raymond, where they are both popular members of the younger set, the groom being a member of the famous Raymond Riders Basketball team.

They have the best wishes of their many friends in Raymond and district for a long and happy married life.

CRAWFORD — BROWN

The wedding was solemnized in Lethbridge, Thursday evening, September 20th, at the home of Pres. Ursenbach, of Robert Crawford, who has been working for some time past for S. B. Card on the farm, and Miss Marjorie Brown, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Brown, of Raymond.

The young people will make their home on the Cardfarm, according to present plans. The best wishes of the community are extended to them for a long and happy married life.

Mrs. Elizabeth Wall was a Lethbridge visitor on Monday.

The International Yacht Races, best four out of seven, between the British yacht Endeavor and American yacht Rainstand, now at 2 wins for the Endeavor and one for the Rainbow. No race was held today, (Friday). The British ship is making a real bid for the honors in this fall's events.

Harold P. Heninger Passes Suddenly

Harold P. Heninger, father of Ellis S. Heninger, real estate man of Lethbridge and uncle of W. A. Heninger and Mrs. O. R. Knight, passed away very suddenly in Lethbridge last Friday afternoon, succumbing to a heart attack which took him off in about thirty minutes time. He had dined with his son Ellis and family and was chatting when he complained of heartburn. His daughter-in-law rendered first aid and the doctor was called. Mr. Heninger expired just as the medical man arrived. He was in his eighty-third year, and had been healthy and very active all his life, having gone to Lethbridge Friday morning for a business meeting there. He was a native of Virginia, his father being a slaveholder and he had many vivid recollections of the old slave days before the Civil War.

The regular monthly luncheon and meeting of the Raymond Rotary Outpost was held in the United Church, Raymond, Wednesday, September 20th, with eighteen local members present and nine visitors. The visitors were: Mr. E. T. Rogers, President of the British Columbia Sugar Refineries, and the following Rotarians from the Lethbridge Club, Pres. Geo. Lomas, Erle Eisenhauer, Gavin Houston, Art Baalim, Harry Meech, Bill Derby, Chris Hansen and Byron Tanner, whose visit was greatly appreciated.

Pres. T. Geo. Wood was in the Chair, and after partaking of the sumptuous dinner provided by the Ladies Aid, the meeting was turned over for discussion of public projects that the local Rotary Club might sponsor for the good of the town and district.

A swimming pool, and facilities for physical training in connection with the work in the Opera House were suggested, and as this season is more fitting for athletic work, this phase was decided on. Speakers on the subject were: Paul Redd, Heber Allen, Rayo Woolf and Dr. Leech of the local club, and George Lomas, A. G. Baalim, C. N. Houston, H. W. Meech and E. E. Eisenhauer, of the Lethbridge Club, whose contributions were greatly appreciated.

A motion by the Chairman, seconded by C.W. Wing, that the Community Service Committee be instructed to try and arrange for and outline classes in physical training during the coming winter, especially amongst the younger people was passed unanimously.

A number of suggestions were made for raising funds, which will be thought over and discussed later. Meeting adjourned at 3 p.m.

WILL YOU PLAY THE GAME

"And therefore, whatsoever ye would that men would do unto you, do ye even so to them, for this is the law and the prophets."

Two thousand years ago this gospel was given. Do you think, dear reader, that this is workable?

This year throughout the Raymond district we have a good crop of grain, and an exceptionally good beef harvest in sight. Are we going to do it all we can to play fair with the men we owe? Or will we dodge them at every turn, and try and buy all the things we want before you begin to pay in a little to them.

We are not unmindful of the fact that some collectors are not very considerate, and that some firms may order their men to get a settlement, regardless of consequences, but we are glad to say that if there are such occasions they are very few indeed. In nearly every instance, all the collectors want is a square deal, and the assurance that you with their other debtors will try and meet them half way. It is to their advantage to be considerate and human, and in almost every case we find that they are this way.

Then too, interest will make turning.

a big hole in any payment that may be made this year, and in many instances, the price will stand just about where it was before any payment was made. But, brother, remember that your creditors have been carrying you a long time, and you ought to be willing to do something for your trip. We can't expect to hit it dead on the time without paying. Another good thing to remember is that you brought these obligations on yourself. You probably blame the high-powered man for your ills, and he may no doubt have some influence, but when you put your name on the dotted line with the promise that you could have your own terms, there was no doubt a feeling of importance stirring through you, at least this was our experience. So, think a little, before you think of the men who are trying to collect. These wholesalers have their bills to meet. They have the banks and other credit agencies after them, and they would like to get from under the top, so don't be too inconsiderate and to hasten in what you have to say.

It is a long lane that has no turning.

4. EQUIPMENT NECESSARY

YOU read, in our last article, of the two traps, placed at Stations 1 and 7, respectively. It is essential that the traps be protected. Apart from the weathering protection that this affords, protection must be given to the two trap boys. Both houses may be of exactly similar construction, except that the high trap at Station 1 must be raised to bring the trap door 10 feet off the ground, whilst the low trap at Station 7 has the door 3 feet up.

Traps may be obtained for very little money, although, of course, better ones may be bought for more money. Your local sports-goods dealer will gladly get you complete descriptions of various makes of traps—of course, the better they are, the more satisfactorily they will operate. On the whole, though, it is as well to keep the lay-out as simple as possible. It is the most practical in the end.

Gun racks are a necessity. Any carelessness in standing or laying down of guns should be absolutely prohibited. Safety nets, too, made of chicken wire or fish netting, should be erected behind each trap house. There will prove to be a decided economy and will save many clay targets.

Later on you may want to build a club-house to provide a pleasant place for your members to congregate between rounds or during stormy weather. This again will depend upon your tastes and resources, and may be built so as to lend itself to expansion as the club grows. What we should overlook the field, and the deer may be placed at one end. Of course, with this as with other items of equipment, the cost can be kept down at the start. You will find that the clay birds are also very inexpensive—amazingly so, when one has experienced the thrill that they supply.

This is No. 4 of a series of 12 articles on Sheet Shooting. Cut it out. If it has been clipped, you will have a complete write-up of this sport which is rapidly becoming the rage across Canada.

Alberta Wheat Pool Notes

WHEAT POOL BROADCASTING

Arrangements have been completed for a program of broadcasting by the Wheat Pools of Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta, as well as the Canadian Wheat Pool, over the western radio network.

The western radio network furnishes radio facilities at the following centres: Winnipeg, Regina, Saskatoon, Edmonton, and Calgary.

The first broadcast will be given Wednesday, October 3rd, between 8:15 and 8:30 p. m., mountain standard time. The speaker of the evening will be announced at a later date. Under the arrangements made, Pool members of one province will be given an opportunity to hear speakers from other Pools. In this way the entire west can be kept informed of the progress of this movement.

DROUGHT IN THE ANTIPODES

Australia has been complaining insistently of the need for rain and mention is made that if moisture is not forthcoming shortly the crop will be away below average. It is suggested that the exportable surplus may be only 56 million bushels, compared with 114 million for last year's crop and 161 million from the crop of the year before that.

ARGENTINIAN 1933 WHEAT CROP ESTIMATES REVISED

It has been obvious for months that the Argentina government had under-estimated the 1933 wheat crop in that country, the original figure being 256 million bushels. Now a revised estimate has been issued by that government fixing the volume of 286 million bushels. Allowing for home consumption requirements and the export of 120 million bushels, Broomhall places available supplies for export and carryover at 80 million bushels.

WEEKLY LETTER

Water shortage is a vital problem on many prairie farms that might be largely solved in many instances by building reservoirs and saving some of the surface water that runs off from snow and rain each year. The exact time when run-off water may be utilized is well demonstrated in the work at the Dominion Range Experimental Station near Manyberries, where a good number of water holes have been built, at very little cost, to provide year-round water supply from run-off water that would otherwise be wasted.

Many farms of course do not provide the conditions needed to catch and store surface water. Flat land, for example, gives very little run-off and where land is cultivated or where the soil is very sandy most of the rain and snow that falls soaks in the ground instead of running off. On virgin prairie however where the land shows a fair slope much water runs off into the hollows where snow melts in the spring and during heavy summer rains. It is in such cases that opportunity for storing water is afforded.

The best time to locate a site for a reservoir, Mr. Thompson of the Manyberries station explains, is in the spring when water from melting snow is running off the land and the natural water courses are easily found. Fall, however, is often a convenient time for building reservoirs and repairing dams already in existence.

A coulee or depression which provides the best location for a reservoir site, where the watershed is in grass and not cultivated. F. H. Peters, one time Chief engineer with the Dominion Reclamation Service, states in his bulletin—now out of print—on farm water supply that "the best natural reservoir site is one where the sides of a coulee or draw widen out with a fairly flat bottom and then narrow in again. This gives a big area in which to store the water, and at the same time a narrow place at the lower end to build the dam across. If there is a natural depression, pothole or pond anywhere this can often be developed into an ideal reservoir."

Probable losses from seepage and evaporation need to be taken into account in building a reservoir. In a clay or heavy loam soil these two losses amount to about three inches in depth per month according to Mr. Peters. The losses are about 5 inches per month on a loam soil, 8 inches on a sandy soil or light sandy loam and as high as 12 inches per month on very sandy or gravelly soil. The soil is therefore highly important in determining the efficiency of a storage reservoir and may actually determine whether a dam is worth building or not.

Major A. Ewan Moore, retired C.P.R. employee, and one time stationed here in Raymond and connected with the early settlement of the district died recently in London, England. He is remembered by many old-timers in Raymond.

Mr. Thompson recommends at least 8 feet of water in a reservoir, when filled, to provide for seepage and evaporation losses and ensure an adequate depth of water for use. Further details of dam construction including dimensions, rip-rapping and spillway constructions will be discussed in next week's letter.

A point to mention here is that all surface water in the province of Alberta belongs to Crown and that it is necessary under the law to obtain authorization and license for the construction of works, such as dams and ditches for storing or diverting any surface water. Dams or other works that are authorized and licensed have legal status and the farmer's water right is fully protected. This is not the case where works are not authorized and licensed. Application for the construction of any works and a licensed water right should be made to the Director of Water Resources, Edmonton.

YOUR GROCER WILL HELP YOU KEEP HEALTHY AND HAPPY

Delicious Cereal Promotes Regular Habits

The right kinds of foods form the very basis of health. You need nourishment for strength and energy. And you need "bulk" to prevent common constipation.

Otherwise, this ailment may cause headaches, loss of appetite and energy. You can correct it, usually, by eating a delicious cereal.

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN adds generous "bulk" to your daily menu. Tests show this "bulk" is similar to that found in leafy vegetables.

Inside the body, the fiber of ALL-BRAN absorbs moisture, and forms a soft mass. Gently, this clears out the intestinal wastes.

ALL-BRAN is also a good source of vitamin B and iron.

Isn't it safer—and pleasanter—to enjoy this food in place of taking patent medicines?

Two table-spoonfuls of ALL-BRAN daily will overcome most types of common constipation. Chronic cases, with each meal. If seriously ill, see your doctor. ALL-BRAN makes no claim to be a "cure-all."

Serve ALL-BRAN as a cereal with milk or cream, or cook into fluffy puddings and breads.

Remember, Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is all bran with only necessary flavoring added. It contains much more "bulk" than part-bran products. Get the red-and-green package at your grocer's. Made by Kellogg in London, Ontario.

The FIRESIDE PHILOSOPHER

By ALFRED BIGGS

Dwell in the future, not in the past.

The most learned are the most modest.

Think rightly and you will act rightly.

Adversity introduces us to our friends.

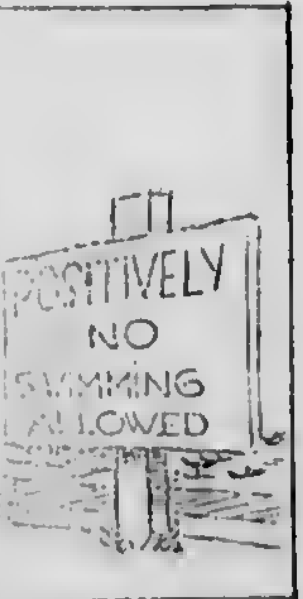

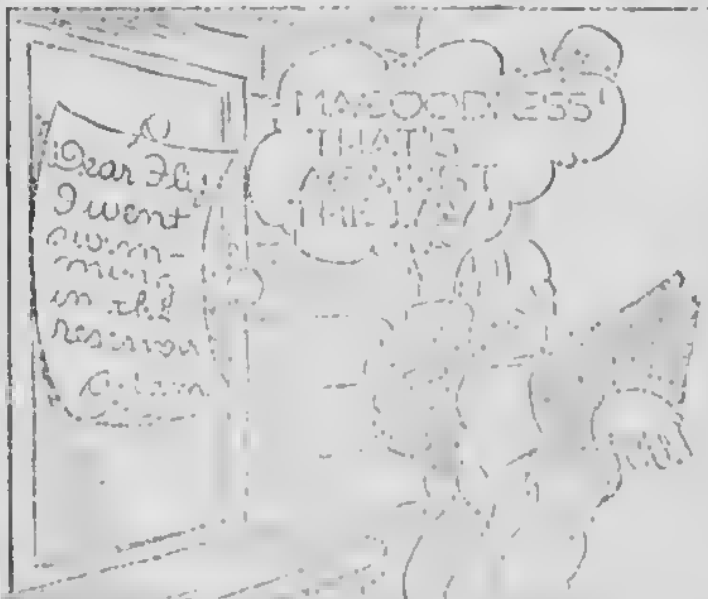

Study the stars and your worries will seem puny.

Without pain we should not recognize pleasure.

Study your own faults before you can rectify them.

You're in the wrong when you have to lie about it.

FOR FLAVOR

Thanksgiving Day will be on October 12th, and is a legal holiday. Let's all observe it.

Hyrum Fromm has been making rapid progress the past week on his new home, and they will soon be moving into it.

With the near finish of Galt Mine No. 6 at Lethbridge, a new shaft is to be sunk on the west side of the Oldman River, near the High Level bridge, and it is hoped to have this ready for mining for the 1935-36 season. This was the decision arrived at by Pres. E. W. Beatty and party on their recent trip thru Lethbridge. The miners will continue to live at Lethbridge to work the new mine.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Isaacson of Champion, were week-end visitors with Mr. Isaacson's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Piep grass and family.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. Carl Shield on Sunday, September 16th, at the home of Mrs. Dearden in Raymond, a baby girl. Mother and babe are doing fine.

One of the greatest marine tragedies for years was the burning at sea early Saturday morning of the excursion ship Morro Castle, homeward bound from an eight day cruise to Havana. Fire broke out in the library, and soon had passengers cut off from escape. 137 known dead, and a number unaccounted for, as yet is the toll to date, the palatial steamer being a total wreck and loss.

If one exempts the rich, there are very few families who during the past few months or ties for doing so are less. The high cost of living is making a lot of thrifty people seek every means to buy the right merchandise at the right price.

As the advertising columns of the newspaper are great market places, everything worth having is worth advertising. About the only way of making advantageous savings is by reading the advertisements in the newspaper and buying where the best buys are.

Thrifty people always read the advertisements before they buy, since the last rise in prices that have not had to cut down on their expenses.

There is a limit to what people can spend. The necessity for saving a little is greater than ever before and the opportunity

THE PROPER CARE OF YOUR AUTOMOBILE Sport Model Tops

WHILE they are made of a different material and are not coated with a varnish, as are the tops of closed cars, a certain amount of inspection and care is necessary to the upkeep of the sport model top. This style of top is made from a gray, tan or khaki coloured fabric called teal or Burbank cloth. It usually consists of two layers of closely woven cloth which are fastened together with rubber cement. When this material is new it will resist weather. After the car has been in service for a year or two, however, the top material sometimes loses its waterproof qualities and leaks develop. When this occurs it is useless to try to waterproof the material with a coating of varnish, lacquer or any other kind of surface finish. They are not suited to material of this type, and are liable to cause it to stiffen, pucker, or become discolored. The proper compound to use on sports model tops to renew their waterproof qualities is one which will sink into the cloth and waterproof the fibres without changing the color or appearance of the material in any way.
